State Fair Acquires Additional 60 Acres

A transfer of title resulting in the addition of 60 acres to the southwest corner of the Missouri State Fairgrounds was witnessed Tuesday by Fair Secretary W. C. Askew, Rep. Joe Rains and Clinton J. Muller, representing the Donohue Loan and Investment Co.

Funds for the $75,000 purchase were authorized Sept. 21 by the House and Senate Fiscal Affairs Committee following a personal appeal by Rains. The Committee had earlier rejected Askew's initial request for the money.

The date of authorization by the Committee was only one day before the deadline on the state's option to buy the land was scheduled to expire, according to Muller.

The land was purchased from Mabel M. Morgan, Marjorie M. Muller, Lorraine M. Stokes, Richard S. Morgan and Dorothy Jane Morgan.

Progress Reported In Vietnam Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today "some progress has been made at achieving a negotiated settlement of the Vietnam conflict," but refused to give any support for the assessment.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler reported the progress following an hour-long meeting between President Nixon, Secretary of State William P. Rogers and national security adviser Henry A. Kissinger, the latter returned Monday night from a five-day meeting with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu. Ziegler turned back repeated attempts by newsmen to draw out elaboration on his statement. He specifically refused to comment on a speech today by Thieu charging North Vietnamese proposals for a settlement are ill-disguised attempts to undermine his government.

Thieu said no one has the right to impose a peace settlement on South Vietnam, but added that a cease-fire may be declared soon, if it covers all of Indochina under international supervision.

When asked about reports from Saigon that the President has ordered no raids by U.S. B52 bombers in the North during the current stage of negotiations, Ziegler referred the questioner to the Defense Department. A Pentagon spokesman declined comment on the reports.

The press officer said he had not been completely briefed by Kissinger on the talks the presidential aide had in Saigon and could not characterize them.

However, he held out the slight possibility that Kissinger himself might meet with newsmen in the future.

The mid-morning session in Nixon's office was the President's second with the presidential advisor since his return late Monday from five days of talks in Saigon.

Just as the meeting began, word came from Saigon that Thieu had denounced the Communist proposals as "dark schemes aimed at taking over South Vietnam."

Some officials expected Kissinger's report to dwell on a Saigon-constructed roadblock to an Indochina settlement.

Kissinger, Nixon's chief national-security adviser, and Army Chief of Staff Gen. Creighton W. Abrams returned here on separate military flights Monday night from nearly a week of meetings with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu and other officials.

"We made some progress," Kissinger said on arriving in Washington. He met with Nixon for 30 minutes Monday night, the White House said.

Although the U.S. embassy in Saigon described the high-level meetings as having "made progress," there was no sign Kissinger convinced Thieu to agree to some form of coalition government with the Viet Cong.

Tin Song, a South Vietnamese newspaper that generally expresses Thieu's stands, said the talks with Kissinger were held in a "very heated atmosphere in the face of unyielding Vietnamese determination to stand pat on its position."

That position as expressed earlier by the official South Vietnamese radio is to "never accept a two-, three- or four-segment government."

With speculation continuing unabated that Kissinger and North Vietnamese officials earlier had reached agreements in principle on a cease-fire of some type involving total U.S. withdrawal and return of prisoners, the Saigon refusal to accede to a coalition appears the major obstacle.

Officials in Washington said the United States still holds out hope for some settlement.

Request 'Cease-fire'

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu said tonight the Communist side has requested a cease-fire and that one could come "in the next future" — but only if North Vietnam withdraws all its troops.

Once that is done, Thieu said in a two-hour broadcast, his government would be ready to discuss a political settlement with the Communist-led National Liberation Front, known as the Viet Cong. No outside party could make decisions determining South Vietnam's future, he asserted.

Thieu declared no one has a right to impose a peace settlement on South Vietnam and restated his opposition to a tripartite coalition government as sought by the Communist side. He declared that no formal agreements were reached in his five days of talks with President Nixon's national security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger. He said the talks were exploratory and "nothing was signed."

In what was essentially a reiteration of his government's long-standing position on an Indochina settlement, Thieu said the cease-fire would have to cover Cambodia and Laos as well as South Vietnam, and be guaranteed by international supervision.

He suggested that the North Vietnamese were trying for a settlement before the U.S. presidential election.

"If a cease-fire occurs before or after the U.S. elections, we will stand pat on our firm position," Thieu said.

By declaring his opposition to an imposed peace agreement, Thieu indicated sharp disagreement in discussions with the United States on an Indochina settlement.

In a television and radio address, Thieu condemned Communist peace proposals as "dark schemes aimed at taking over Vietnam."

Thieu spoke out after five days of talks with Henry A. Kissinger, who is now back in Washington.

Kissinger and the U.S. Embassy had said the talks "made progress."

"If a cease-fire occurs, we will always respect it, but the Communists will not," Thieu said. "We respect peace, a cease-fire."

He coupled this with an appeal to all political and religious groups to participate with the Saigon government in case a cease-fire should occur.

His speech was essentially a reiteration of South Vietnam's long-standing position on an Indochina peace settlement. Thieu said he would not be forced into an agreement he did not want.

"No one has the right to sign any agreement, any cease-fire pact or peace pact for the South Vietnamese. Only the South Vietnamese can do it for themselves," he said.

The remark appeared aimed at the United States but Thieu said his discussions with Kissinger had been "very useful and clear discussions."

Express Optimism

Schramm, Spainhower Stop Here

Two state Democratic candidates spent Monday afternoon and evening campaigning in Sedalia Jack Schramm, lieutenant governor hopeful, and James I. Spainhower, candidate for state treasurer, greeted employees at four local manufacturing plants and later attended a reception in their honor at Holiday Inn.

Both candidates said the outlook for the Democratic slate looked good, noting the recent upswing in the campaign of Ed Dowd, gubernatorial candidate. Spainhower said, "Dowd is really starting to move," and added that his companion for the day has long been favored in public opinion polls over his Republican opponent Rep. William Phelps.

Schramm said he would devote all of his time to the lieutenant governor's office if elected. "I have spent the past two years talking on the 'concept of the office.' Tradition makes the lieutenant governor president of the Senate, but my own ideas bring the office closer to the executive branch of government. I would use the office as a forum for governmental action in the fields of rural and urban housing, environmental improvement and protection, tax relief for the elderly and justice and law enforcement," he said.

Schramm denied conflict of interest charges made against him by Phelps, and said his opponent's emphasis on being a full-time lieutenant governor makes him a "one-issue" candidate. He said Phelps' main hope is to ride into office "on Kit Bond's coattails."

Spainhower stressed the use of computer technology to insure accurate daily knowledge of the state's financial condition, one of the points in his "Ten Point Plan" for revamping the treasurer's office.

He said, "There is no reason in the computerized age in which we are living for the people ever to be in doubt as to how

He said Hanoi is trying to pressure the United States to agree to a cease-fire before the Nov. 7 presidential election "because they are weak now."

Thieu's speech coincided with a statement in Paris by Prince Souvanna Phouma, premier of Laos—his nation with Cambodia and the two Vietnams constitute Indochina.

He said, "I think we are on the eve of a cease-fire," but added: "This is not a certainty."

He said he had no specific knowledge on which to base his prediction.

The Laotian leader shied away from a previous statement in which he said a cease-fire would come within the next seven days.

Thieu's strong statement apparently was intended to gather public support for his opposition to the Communists' proposal for a coalition government.

Elaborating on his claim that the Communists plan a takeover, Thieu said the other side has ordered its agents and troops to prepare new "national reconciliation" flags and to erase the South Vietnamese flag in territory the enemy occupies.

He said this information was based on captured documents and interrogations of prisoners and defectors.

White House Hopefuls Are Busy

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

Sen. George McGovern said today the American people should repudiate campaign sabotage by Republicans by voting President Nixon out of office. Nixon, meanwhile, said his top priority is to hold down prices and taxes.

Both Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew were interrupted by protesters in campaigning Monday. Nixon waited for police to calm things down in a New York City suburb, while Agnew quieted a lone heckler in Twin Falls, Idaho, with a blast from a whistle.

Agnew's campaign plane was struck by lightning near Salt Lake City, Utah, Monday, but there was no damage.

With only two weeks remaining until the presidential election on Nov. 7, Nixon was back in Washington after a day of campaigning in the New York City area.

Agnew was in Utah today and was to travel later to New Hampshire and New York; McGovern planned appearances in Ohio and Wisconsin, and Democratic vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver was to ride in a Chicago parade with Mayor Richard J. Daley before flying on to Missouri and Texas.

McGovern said today that Republican sabotage of the Democratic campaign for the presidency has included forgery, burglary, tampering with a grand jury, obstruction of justice, banking violations, failure to report campaign expenditures and fraudulent use of the mails.

He said an attempt by the Nixon campaign to plant questions for a television interviewer to ask him on Sunday was "one of the more arrogant episodes in a Republican campaign marked more by its audacity than its honesty."

McGovern also said that as president he would halt special trade arrangements with the Soviet Union "until they agreed to stop this persecution of the Soviet Jews."

Meanwhile, a presidential spokesman declined comment on a report by CBS television that the White House has reopened the investigation into the break-in and alleged bugging at the Democratic party headquarters in Washington on June 17.

Resolve SFCC Trustee Election Deadlock

A deadlock in the State Fair Community College board of trustees involving the election of officers, which has continued since last April, was broken Monday night in a surprise move by C. P. Leppert, Lincoln.

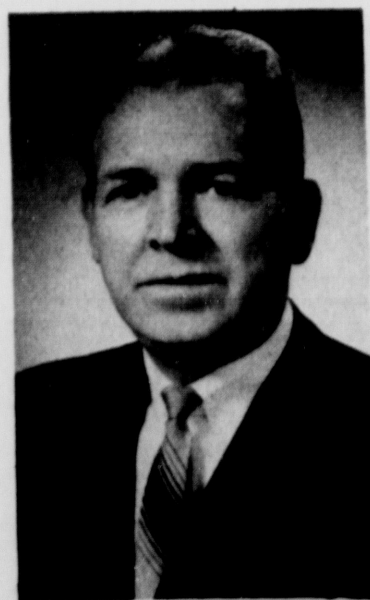

Leppert moved to "set aside the previous motion (to hold board elections after the Nov. 7 election of two new board members) and elect the current president of the board, William C. Hopkins, to remain at that post by acclamation."

Leppert said he made the motion "in the interest of unity and other reasons," but did not elaborate. He said Hopkins had earned the office "through his good work — he deserves it."

Leppert had been nominated for the office by Richard Banks, Cole Camp, on April 10. Banks and another board member, Dr. C. Gordon Stauffer, were absent from the Monday meeting.

The board then voted to table the election of the three other board officers until the next meeting. Hopkins reminded the trustees that a meeting would be necessary shortly after the Nov. 7 election to announce the official outcome and the two newly-elected board members.

Regarding his election, Hopkins said Tuesday, "It was a surprise. I felt flattered that the board saw fit to elect me to another term." Hopkins said the election would be retroactive to April 10, and would expire in April 1974.

William C. Hopkins

The board chairman said he did not know "what motivated" Leppert to break the deadlock, but said he was happy that a feeling of harmony apparently had been restored to the board.

In other business, the board turned down a request by Gary Gill, a freshman, that political workers on campus be allowed to share bulletin board space and a place to distribute literature for candidates. Gill noted he had received cooperation from both major parties on the local level and instructor acceptance of such a plan and methods of policing it.

However board members Leppert and Leonard Heisterberg expressed concern at being able to control the activities. Leppert said he "feared the intrusion of a radical element ... and this could be the basis for future ill feelings at the college. I think it is a misuse of taxpayers' money to have campaigning on a community-sponsored institution."

Both of the Benton County trustees voted against the proposal, while Hopkins and Dr. Donald Proctor favored it. The motion failed for lack of four affirmative votes, which are required to transact board business.

Gill said afterward, "I'm dissatisfied, disillusioned, and ... well you name it."

Learning Begins at Home

PAR Harnesses Parent Power

(First of Two Parts.)
By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK — (NEA) — It's raining. The mailbox offers no diversions — just junk mail and bills. The housework is done. You've read every book you own barring the dictionary. On television there's dullsville, channel after channel. The kids are bored indoors. And your parental halo shortly becomes a perfect square, the corners sharpened with each cry of, "MA, there's nothing to do!"

Faced with this problem themselves a team of three teachers and one social worker (all mothers) used their free time to devise a workshop training program for parents and children, with accompanying written materials, that will establish creativity in a child and restore the sweetness and light to mom's disposition not just on rainy days but on all days.

The program started by these four Chicago mothers as a kitchen-table project is now a full-time job for them. And their booklets of "Recipes for Fun," strengthen the role of the parent as the prime resource in the child's early development.

PAR (Parents As Resource) has now sold over 20,000 copies of the activity booklet to Head Start daycare homes and centers and universities and has received numerous requests for the booklet from HEW in Washington. Their new booklet, "More Recipes for Fun," aimed at ages 3 to 11, has just been released.

The four women, Ann Cole, Carolyn Haas, Elizabeth Heller and Betty Weinberger, believe that the first six years are the most important ones in establishing the child's potential intelligence, creativity and awareness of his world.

"Parents play a key role in the child's early learning process," said Carolyn Haas. "A close parent-child relationship is of primary importance. But parents need support and encouragement as well as tangible materials to assume that role with confidence."

The PAR founders say that many parents underestimate their own creativity and the impact that home-centered learning experiences can have on a child's future attitude toward learning.

"We surveyed the activity booklets available to parents," Ann Cole said, "and discovered that although some were excellent many were too wordy, too complicated and too expensive."

"The need for a simple handbook was evident — one focusing on easy home projects requiring minimal preparation and 'saved' rather than 'purchased' materials."

Betty Weinberger remarked that they were often asked how four women could collaborate for such a long time successfully.

The PAR founders have held their workshops for over two years now, carting boxes, cans, twigs, macaroni (for jewelry) and other useful odds and ends to parent groups, educational meetings, settlement and daycare homes and hospitals to use in teaching school-parent groups. And they have worked closely together in their "recipes."

"Our 'think' sessions," Betty said, "usually reflect divergent opinions which greatly strengthen our efforts. Each decision is a synthesis of different training and orientation. The result is a far richer fabric than any of us could produce alone."

They are constantly generating new recipes for workshops. Where do they get their ideas? One came from their own childhood play, some from their children, other teachers, other activity books. And many, they admit, they just dream up when the need arises.

Liz Heller, artist for the project, is delighted with the whole program. "PAR gives me a chance to get away from home and my own two small boys," she cheerfully admitted. "Artwork takes concentration. So I particularly look forward to the drawing board in our new office as a quiet place to work."

Every day is a new adventure for these four mothers. They find themselves rushing to the typewriter or to the mailbox to see the postmarks on their mail.

It's an exciting combination of writing, publishing, teaching and consulting which has grown from a kitchen table to their own office which just was opened this past Aug. 1.

"We want to continue to meet a need and reach parents of all ages and levels of income, education and ability," Ann Cole said. "We hope eventually to set up a chain reaction of parent-teaching-parent at home in small kitchen workshops to develop the creative role of the parent as the child's first teacher."

Patterned Terry Makes Tablecloths

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — I have five children so am always looking for time and energy savers. Terry cloth now comes in such beautiful bright patterns I have made several tablecloths out of it by simply hemming. These cloths soak up spills, can be washed and dried with the towels. They do not need ironing and can be changed often. More advanced sewers also might make matching curtains, appliance covers, chair covers, etc. I do advise pre-shrinking the material by first washing and drying it. — MRS. R. L. Z.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I would like to know what I can do with a lot of old plastic flowers. I hate to throw them away. Any suggestions will be greatly appreciated. — UNA MAE

DEAR POLLY — I have two Pet Peeves. I really get out of patience when I open a bag of flour and the coupon therein causes the flour to spill all over. Why do people phone, carry on a conversation and expect me to guess who they are? Why don't folks identify themselves right away if they are not relatives or friends whose voices would be familiar? I do hope this will be read by those who can eliminate these peeves. — HELEN

DEAR POLLY — I think I have help for Cecelia who wants to remove a stamped pattern from a sheet. I had some that I had washed and had taken to the dry cleaners for the removal of the inked pattern but with no luck. Finally I discovered that white ballpoint pen ink remover worked like magic with only one application. Do hope this works for her. — MRS. R. B. H.

DEAR POLLY — Leftover pieces of the short-nap indoor-outdoor carpet make fine innersoles for rubber boots, slippers, etc. The rubber backing keeps the soles from sliding around and the thickness of this material is most comfortable. Try it, you will like it. — WILLIAM, who wears them.

DEAR POLLY — When I wash my quilted bedspread that has a ruffle around it, I let the spread dry, put it on the bed and then iron it. I first iron the center and then turn the ruffle up on the bed and iron it. This is much easier than trying to iron a big clumsy spread on the ironing board. — MRS. R. E. R.

DEAR POLLY — My teenage son is not as diligent as he should be about using a deodorant. Several of his favorite shirts had a very strong perspiration odor. I tried many things that accomplished nothing. Finally I made a VERY THICK paste of baking soda and just enough water to moisten it. I rubbed this into the underarms of the damp shirts and left a thick coating of the paste on them for about six hours and then laundered as usual. The odor completely disappeared. — MRS. W. C.

Bombing Activity Reduced For Talks

SAIGON (AP) — President Nixon has reduced the bombing of North Vietnam, mainly around Hanoi and Haiphong, during the critical peace negotiations that have been under way, it was learned today.

The gesture coincides with the onset of the northeast monsoons over the North, which always reduce American air activity there and divert the thrust of the bombing campaign to the Ho Chi Minh trail through Laos, where the dry season has begun.

The U.S. Command refused to confirm or deny the reported restrictions, but the 7th Fleet disclosed without elaboration that three of its four carriers had moved from the Tonkin Gulf off the coast of North Vietnam into the South China Sea off the coast of South Vietnam.

Other sources outside the U.S. Command confirmed the report, but declined to go into details of the restriction or say whether it was part of some kind of a tacit agreement between the United States and North Vietnam.

U.S. fighter-bombers have been averaging less than 200 strikes against North Vietnam in the past few days. The U.S. Command reported about 120 strikes Monday.

A spokesman for the command noted

Another Delay In Ruling on Youth

WARSAW — A ruling to determine whether Richard Paxton, 17, Kansas City, will be tried as an adult or a juvenile in connection with the May 24 shooting death of Glenn Dale Hyatt, Independence, was postponed Tuesday morning by Circuit Judge Charles Barker, according to a spokesman for the Benton County Circuit Clerk's office.

The ruling was set for 10 a.m. Tuesday at the Benton County Courthouse here. The spokesman said the judge may rule on the Paxton youth Tuesday afternoon.

Paxton was 16 years old at the time of the shooting.

Hyatt was shot in the head about 11 miles southeast of here on Route VV. Paxton, and another 16-year-old Timothy Lattimer, Kansas City, were in a car with Hyatt at the time of the shooting, a spokesman for the Benton County Sheriff's Department said.

Lattimer is presently under the custody of juvenile authorities in Kansas City.

Formal Charges Are Filed Here

Tony B. Trammell, 25, 804 North Missouri, and Harvey G. Parker, also known as Harvey G. Green, 27, 412 North Washington, were formally charged in Pettis County Magistrate Court Tuesday with second degree burglary and stealing.

Their preliminary hearing was set for Nov. 28. Both men are in the Pettis County jail in lieu of $7,500 bond each.

The men were arrested at the Gibson Store, 1020 Thompson Blvd., about 1:30 a.m. Friday, after they allegedly had in their possession firearms and other items taken from the store, police said.

Attorney William F. Brown was appointed by the court to defend the two.

that the northeast monsoons are now under way and added that "weather is a possible factor" in the reduction in the strikes from the previous average of 300 or more per day. But even the bombers flying were staying away from the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial complex, or what one Air Force commander called "the vitals of North Vietnam."

The U.S. Command also reported that B52 bombers made no raids in North Vietnam during the 24 hours ending at noon Tuesday. It was the third day this month of B52 strikes in the north.

However, the eight-jet Stratofortresses flew more than 100 strikes in South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, sources said. About a third of the raids were concentrated in the Saigon area, where fighting erupted north of the capital.

Highway 13 was closed 21 miles north of Saigon, and South Vietnamese forces backed by bombers were trying to drive North Vietnamese troops from three hamlets in the area.

Search For Boggs Unsuccessful

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Search missions have found no trace of a light plane which disappeared more than a week ago, carrying House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs and three others.

A storm front which hampered air search operations Monday began to show signs of clearing Monday night, but for the eighth day a spokesman for the Rescue Coordination Center at nearby Elmendorf Air Force Base reported finding nothing.

The 17th Coast Guard District in Juneau reported early today it still has four aircraft participating in the search but that two of its four cutters were being withdrawn.

A Coast Guard spokesman said the ships had been through the same waters time and again without finding any trace of the missing plane.

Coast Guard planes in Juneau were grounded Monday by "high turbulence with a 500-foot ceiling," a spokesman said, and only about 15 of some 50 available planes took part in the search.

But Monday night the National Weather Service reported clearing from Anchorage to Cordova, about one-third of the 560-mile flight path to Juneau that the plane carrying the 58-year-old Boggs planned to follow.

Also aboard the missing Cessna 310 were Rep. Nick Begich of Alaska, 40; Russell L. Brown, 37, a Begich aide, and Don E. Jonz, 38, president of Pan Alaska Airways and pilot of the plane.

Photographs of the primary search route, which has been covered one or more times in the week since the plane disappeared, have so far turned up nothing.

Air Force officials have refused to give up hope for the plane, pointing out that recoveries have been made after search planes have flown over an area six or seven times, only to spot airplanes on the next try.

Transport System Seen As Unfeasible

Mayor Jerry Jones Tuesday termed the possibility of establishing a city-operated transportation system with federal revenue sharing funds as an "economically unfeasible one ... which would serve only a small segment of the population."

Jones was requested to consider the proposal by Mrs. John Ellison Jr., chairwoman of the Commission for Community Concern of the Immanuel United Church of Christ.

"There's no sense in subsidizing something that will not be economically practical," Jones said.

Jones and the City Council will meet in special session Wednesday night to discuss plans for spending the city's anticipated $414,185 of the recently-authorized money.

The meeting will be closed to the public but newsmen will be allowed to attend, Jones said.

Asked if a special meeting with concerned citizens will be held to discuss spending the revenue-sharing funds, Jones said he was "personally opposed to it. I think a public meeting would only be a gathering of people arguing for their special interests."

Jones said he felt the council could suitably arrive at the best possible way of spending the money without holding a public meeting "because I think they are close enough to the public and have enough contact with their constituents ... to get their (citizens) viewpoints on this matter."

Jones added that he felt "we (he and the council) have been very fair ... in handling city fiscal policy and I see no reason why revenue sharing should change that."

Presiding Judge B. A. Fischer, who received a letter from Mrs. Ellison urging the establishment of an expanded county public health program with county revenue sharing funds, declined to comment on the proposal.

Eastern District Judge E. L. "Red" Birdsong, who also declined comment, said the judges will probably further explore the spending of revenue sharing money at the quarterly meeting of the Central Missouri Judges Association Oct. 31 in Marshall.

Barn Destroyed

Sparks from a trash fire resulted in the destruction of this grain and hay storage barn on the Ralph Hall farm, Route 2, Monday afternoon. Approximately 700 bales of straw and several pieces of construction equipment were lost. The barn was already down when Pettis County firemen arrived. No estimate of loss was available.

Lease Agreement a Part Of SFCC's Board Action

The State Fair Community College board of education Monday night voted on several matters, including a lease agreement for the Agriculture Building.

Acting for the board, President Fred E. Davis and William Hopkins negotiated a lease for the Agriculture Building on the state Fairgrounds with the Missouri State Fair for $3,600 and utilities for the period from last Sept. 1 through next June 1. The Fair had previously allowed the college to use the facility if it merely provided utilities.

Hopkins noted that the college had been "lucky" in having that arrangement in the past, noting other state junior colleges pay up to $40,000 a year for rented facilities.

Board members approved the purchase of a bus for use by the school, in a telephone vote recently. The bus was purchased from the Mike O'Connor estate at a cost of $7,500. Hopkins and Davis then let bids on insurance and gasoline. The board president announced Monday night that Gordon Creasey, Warsaw, had won the insurance contract at a rate of $191 annually and that the Sedalia Phillips 66 distributor got the gasoline contract with a bid of 20.9 cents per gallon. The insurance covers equipment not located on the SFCC campus.

Hopkins said the bus had been used five of the six days it has been in the school's possession, and he expected heavy use during the upcoming basketball and baseball seasons.

Other purchases included a used upright Steinway piano for the music department at $1,000 and a set of equipment to "fit, grind and press together valve assemblies for car engines" for the automotive technical school at a cost of $1,045 from Central States Tool. Both items had been budgeted and were allowed greater monies than needed.

Leonard Heisterberg noted that at least two absentee ballots from his district had complained that they had not received SFCC board ballots with their absentee packet. Hopkins explained that there had been a delay in getting the ballots printed and to the county clerks involved but that they were now available and the absentee ballots would have to write or stop by the clerk's office to receive the board ballots. It was also pointed out that the Oct. 8 filing deadline created a delay in distributing the ballots.

Dean Nila Hibdon reported on an exemplary program grant the administrators of the college are now preparing for Department of Health, Education and Welfare inspection. The subject of the program is "career education" for students from kindergarten through college sophomores, and would include schools in Sedalia, Cole Camp, Lincoln and Warsaw on a volunteer basis.

The grant amounts to $160,000 for three years, and stresses giving students an awareness of the job opportunities and career options as they progress through the early grades, and involves "skills teaching" and job experience in the higher grades.

Mrs. Hibdon said the project would be a model for all Missouri schools and nationally if accepted. Hopkins said he felt this area had the qualified people to implement such a large program.

The board granted approval to investigate the prices and coverage of a "floater" insurance policy to cover equipment in Warsaw, Clinton, and other sites where adult basic education classes are being held.

Davis told the group of the Oct. 15-17 visit of the state accreditation team to the campus. He said a 17-member evaluation team and an eight-member accreditation team talked with students, instructors and administrators and gave him a favorable verbal report of campus spirit and accomplishment at State Fair. The report of their visit is expected within the next two weeks.

Dean Robert Solomon announced the college now has 1,370 students, 666 of them taking one or more night courses for a full time equivalent of "right at 1,000 students."

The following people were approved for teaching, teacher aide or counseling positions either at the school or its adult basic education courses in various surrounding counties: David Washburn, Tom Rice, Rhonda Walker, Jay Appleton, Spencer Fricke, Joanna Helming, Don L. King, Ann Murrell, Keith Radford, Linda Ramsey, Rogene Smith and Claude Whetstone.

Man Is Injured In Altercation

A Sedalia man was taken to Bothwell Hospital by ambulance Monday afternoon following a fight at a bar at 421 South Engineer, police said.

Police identified the man as William Bishop, 32, 2001 South New York. A spokesman at Bothwell Hospital said Bishop was taken to a private physician after arriving at the hospital. He suffered facial cuts, police said.

Witnesses told police that Dennis Edwards, 24, allegedly hit Bishop with his fist after Bishop started the altercation, police reports said.

Silence Is Urged In Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The political opposition to President Salvador Allende urged the Chilean people to stay home today and observe a "day of silence" to protest his socialist program.

The Democratic Confederation of Center and Conservative parties said most activities should come to a halt in the country already beset by strikes against the leftist government.

"With our silence we want the government to hear the loud voice of the malcontents," a Confederation spokesman said.

Three radio stations urging participation in the protest were closed down Monday night for disobeying a military order to broadcast only material approved by the government.

The three, which had pulled out of a government-imposed national network, are owned by opposition groups. Authorities said they could not broadcast for six days.

Shortly after the stations were taken off the air, housewives all over Santiago leaned from their windows and began pounding pots, pans and skillets in protest against food shortages.

The wave of strikes by truckers, shopkeepers, students, doctors, dentists, engineers, architects and other professional people entered its 14th day today.

The strikers, grouped in a "command for union defense," are demanding a number of guarantees including "a climate of liberty, democracy and pluralism."

April 7 period but, saying they would abide by the letter of the law, have declined to disclose where they got it or how they spent it.

The Nixon report lists expenditures since April 7 of $22.5 million. The committee said it had $514,985 in cash on hand as of Oct. 16; it was owed an even $1 million as of that date, and had debts of $1.6 million.

In the period between Sept. 1 and Oct. 16, the report of the committee said, it collected about $9 million and had spent some $9.5 million.

This compares with $8.9 million that the McGovern committee reports raising—and $9.05 million it reports spending in the Sept. 1-Oct. 16 period.

McGovern's top committee reports having raised $13.4 million; says it is short $107,204 cash on hand; is owed $125,027, and has debts of $2.85 million.

MoPac Net Income Shows an Increase

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Consolidated net income of the Missouri Pacific Railroad System rose to $19,878,406 for the first nine months of this year from the $18,916,900 reported in the same period in 1971. Downing B. Jenks, system chairman, said today.

Operating revenues in the period were nearly $475 million compared with nearly $447 million last year, Jenks said.

The railroad also announced today the opening of the company's first sales office in Canada. The agency, located in Toronto, will be responsible for 32 counties in Ontario and Quebec.

Symington Support To Kansan

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Kansas Congressman Bill Roy got a campaign boost Monday from Rep. James W. Symington, D-Mo.

Symington was in Topeka to support the re-election bid of Roy, also a Democrat. Symington, from Clayton and the son of Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said Congress needs the benefit of the professional background of Roy.

Roy was a practicing physician for several years before being elected to Congress. He also is licensed to practice law in Kansas.

"I honestly feel and sincerely report to you that the country needs Bill Roy in the Congress," Symington said. "His understanding of the medical world brings something to the Congress that only three others do, and I believe one of them is retiring this year."

"I hope he (Roy) can come back to Washington."

Symington and Roy held a joint news conference here followed by a public reception, where Symington not only spoke on behalf of Roy but turned entertainer as well.

An aide to Roy located a guitar and brought it to Symington, who played and sang several songs.

Asked to comment on predictions that President Nixon will carry Missouri and the state may elect a Republican governor for the first time in years, Symington replied:

"Missouri is the home of President Truman. I can remember a lot of predictions about him that didn't come true. I think Missouri will do better than the national predictions."

"I think that at the state level, the Democrats may carry from top to bottom."

Crash Is Fatal

LAMONI, Iowa (AP)—Dorthea Davis, 48, of Oakland Park, Kan., was killed Monday in a traffic accident on U.S. 69 just south of here on the Iowa-Missouri line.

Investigating officers said the woman apparently pulled from an off ramp of Interstate-35 and into the path of a semi-trailer truck. The driver of the truck, Kenneth Hentz, 42, of Enita, Okla., was not injured.

Authorities said it is not certain if the fatality will be counted in the Missouri or the Iowa counts since the accident occurred on the state line.

Resume Working At GM Facility

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Production resumed this morning at the General Motors Assembly Division plant in the Fairfax district which had been struck by members of the United Auto Workers union four days.

Robert J. Soptic, president of local No. 31, said Monday night the strike was "terminated" but not ended because issues being discussed with management still needed to be resolved.

Negotiations also were to resume today with the major issue being manpower in the trim department, he said.

A plant spokesman said the 4,000 workers, while picketing four days, missed only two full days of work—Friday and Monday.

Elderly Organize In Support Of Dowd Campaign

(Democrat-Capital Service)

JEFFERSON CITY — Elderly Missourians organized here Monday to form a group called "Senior Citizens for Dowd," supporting Ed Dowd, Democratic candidate for governor in the upcoming election.

Co-chaired by Math Wulff, Koeltztown, Mo., and William C. Burke, St. Louis, the group includes George Montgomery, Clinton, and H. T. Seaton, Lexington, on its steering committee.

In organizing, the group said: "Edward Dowd, in his candidacy for the Missouri governorship, has not only demonstrated a deep concern for the problems of our elderly citizens living on fixed incomes, but has also outlined workable programs in this area, including ... adjusting tax structures, expanding transport for the elderly and increasing public and private funding for recreational facilities for the elderly."

Advice Needed On Nose Bleeds

Dear Dr. Lamb — Your comments about nose bleeds remind me of a similar experience I had about a year ago. I had intermittent but persistent nose bleeds for about a week. The difference was I am an adult. Two specialists handled my case. They checked my blood pressure and suggested that the air in my home was too warm and dry. They cauterized twice, but I still had nose bleeds. Finally the doctor gave me a prescription for medicine which he told me was for my blood, and also told me to get a tube of surgical lubricant. I used the small finger to rub this into each nostril at night before retiring. The doctor thought the medicine solved the problem. Packing also was always effective.

Dear Reader — My faith in the fundamental goodness of people and their desire to help others is always restored by the many letters I get from readers making helpful suggestions about other peoples' problems. I received a lot of suggestions about nose bleeds.

It is true, particularly in older people, that the lining of the nose may dry out. The scaly scabs inside are irritating and may bleed. They also stimulate people to pick their noses, causing bleeding. Any good lubricant in the tip of the nose will help solve the drying out problem. A petroleum base jelly or Vaseline is useful or any of the surgical lubricants. The idea is to keep the lining oiled and retain the natural moisture in the cells below the surface of the lining. The lining of the nose is most apt to dry out during the winter months when the humidity is sharply decreased in many heated houses. The air tends to dry out the nasal passages.

Some of the other suggestions for nose bleeders from different readers is the use of vitamin C that some claim has been very successful. Others have suggested stopping other vitamins, particularly cod liver oil and Vitamin A. Still other readers think they have gotten success by taking vitamin A.

Other readers have asked about iron for nose bleeds. The purpose of taking iron is to replace iron lost from actual bleeding. Anyone who has persistent hemorrhage or loss of blood from any place, whether it be from an ulcer, nose bleed, hemorrhoids or menstruation, has a loss of iron. If the bleeding is persistent eventually this will deplete the body's stores of iron and they need to be replaced.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I read the article about the 16-year-old girl's problem of stomach rumbling and growling noises. I agree that it is terribly embarrassing when this is so loud and frequent. Tell her to drink an eight-ounce glass of nonfat milk or eat four to six crackers before going out. This stops mine.

Dear Reader — Thank you for your good suggestion. One of the things that will contribute to rumbling of the digestive tract is hunger. Eating a small amount of anything will often help relieve the hunger contractions and in some instances will eliminate the problem until hunger contractions recur.

On a dare from their husbands, Sue Buchanan, right, and Alice Shillis, became pumpkin tycoons overnight. The two Nashville residents bet their husbands that they could sell the pumpkins, five tons of them, regain their investment and show a good profit in the deal. They'd better, five tons is a mighty big pumpkin pie.

The people ponder state education

Ideas that will be incorporated into proposed legislation to improve public education in Missouri are currently being gathered in 13 regional education conferences being held throughout Missouri by the State Department of Education.

Meetings in Clinton, Salisbury and Eldon, have been held, or will be, to permit residents of this area to voice their opinions and become better informed about Missouri's educational programs and problems. Participants include teachers, school administrators, business and professional men and women, and just plain taxpayers.

Since late last year, study committees have been looking into methods of school financing under a directive from the State Board of Education. Because matters of finance cannot be considered apart from other factors, such as educational programs desired and the kinds of district structures that can best provide these programs, those areas also have been made a part of the study.

The question of school financing has become somewhat more urgent as a result of the California Supreme Court decision that held the property tax, as presently used in that state, to be an unfair method of funding education, since it discriminates against poorer districts. So Missouri has been looking into alternative methods of school financing, should this become necessary, or merely desirable.

Going hand in hand with school financing is the matter of district structure. And it is here that we touch upon a subject that potentially could be more explosive than adoption of a state-wide property tax to finance education. More than one political obituary has been written across the bottom of a school redistricting bill that failed to become law.

The problem defies easy answers. Certainly local control of schools is a tradition that we should protect. But proper education of our children must also be a prime consideration. Which is more important, and to whom? Are they mutually exclusive?

The coming legislative session will be an important one for education in Missouri, and it should be incumbent upon every citizen to familiarize himself with the issues. The regional education conferences have been instrumental in doing this, and we applaud the State Department of Education for arranging them.

Art Buchwald How to hold free elections

WASHINGTON — If and when there is ever a peace agreement on Vietnam there will be new elections. The United States is preparing for this eventuality and is now holding classes in Saigon for Vietnamese politicians.

Buchwald

The instructors are on loan from the Committee for the Re-Election of the President.

"Now, gentlemen, these are the materials absolutely essential for an open and free election. This is the Mark IV Bugging Device which can be placed in your opponent's office so you know what he is up to."

"Ah so, Instructor, but we have no money to buy such expensive equipment."

"Then you must find the money before the election."

"It is very difficult to get money in South Vietnam for a presidential election."

"It depends on how you go about it, Colonel Tho. The first thing you do is set up committees with innocent names like the 'Viet Cong for Thieu,' or the 'Committee to Eliminate the Opposition.' Then you go to manufacturing groups, dairymen, importers, exporters, bankers and landowners and make them contribute $10 million to your party."

"That is good. Then we take the money and spend it on the election?"

"No, General, you do not take the money and spend it on the election. You have to protect the people who gave the money. So you send your minister of commerce with a black satchel to pick up the money by hand. He takes the satchel by jeep to Da Nang where it is flown to Hue. In Hue it is taken by water buffalo to the Mekong Delta. There it is packed in bags of rice and shipped to Mexico. The money is put in a secret Mexican bank account and withdrawn a week later. It is flown back to Saigon and placed in the safe of the minister of commerce, and then, and only then, will it be disbursed for the campaign."

"Honorable Instructor, what do we spend the money on?"

"Bugging equipment, tape machines, miniature cameras, disappearing ink, forged letterheads, pistols — the usual paraphernalia that anyone needs for a free and open election. Now once you have the equipment, you need volunteers to get your candidate elected. You have to be very selective. You want people with police and security experience, men who have worked in intelligence and espionage. They will be the key figures in the campaign. Yes, Major Ku?"

"Will these men go out and make speeches for the candidate?"

"Certainly not!" They will remain undercover. You will use them to infiltrate the opposition. Their job will be to cause chaos in the enemy camp. They will report directly to the Palace on anything they hear. This information will then be used against the opposition."

"Suppose they are discovered by the opposition?"

"Then the case will be taken over by your minister of justice, who will deal with it at the appropriate time."

"Before or after the election?"

"That's a stupid question, General. It will be dealt with AFTER the election."

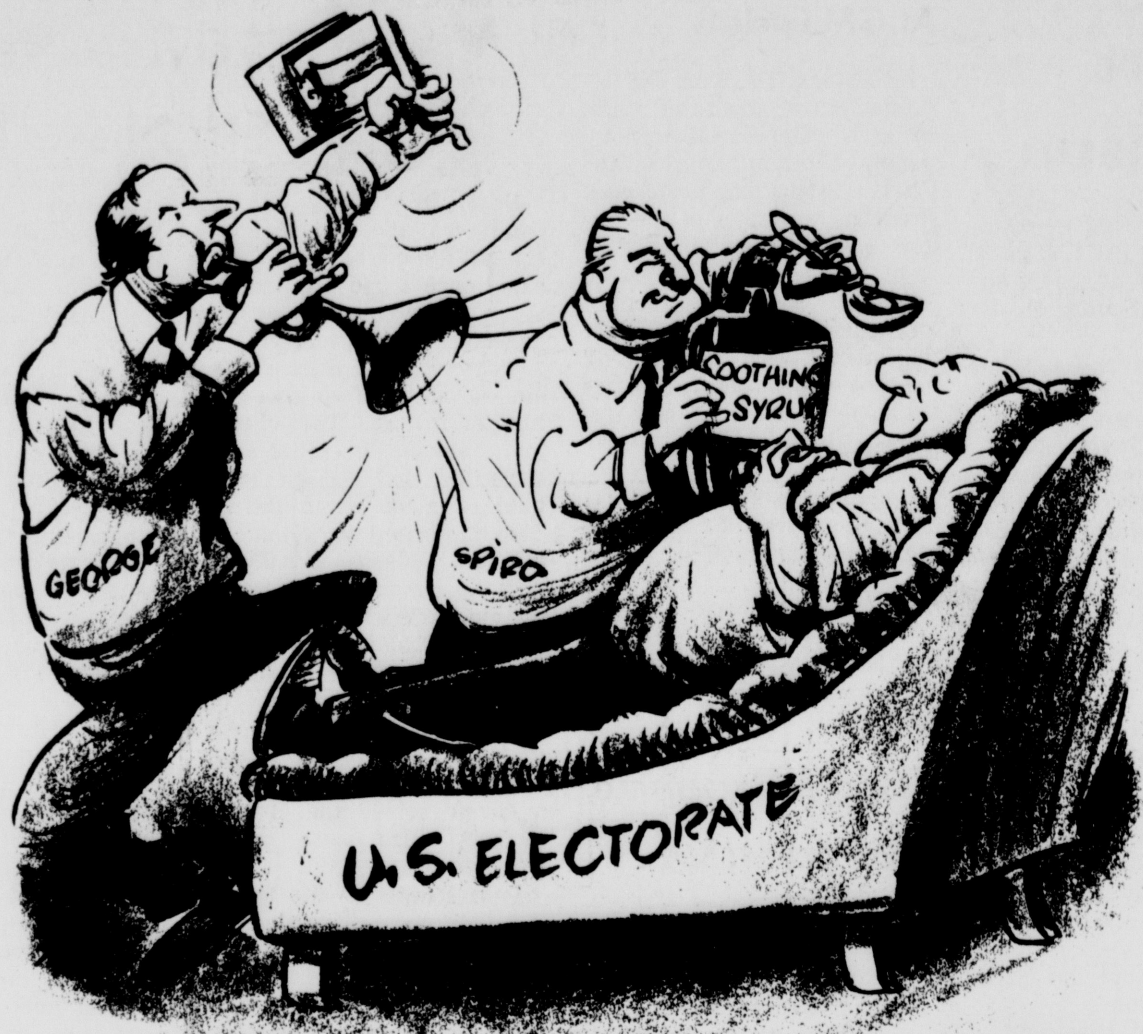

"Forgive me, Honorable Instructor, I was not thinking."

"It's all right. You people are new at holding democratic elections and I can't blame you if you don't know all the rules. Now are there any other questions?"

"Honorable Instructor, suppose the Saigon press discovers that we are involved in these things? Suppose they make a big stink about what we have been doing? What do we do then?"

"You deny it!"

"Class dismissed!"

CRAWFORD

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Press speculation that President Nixon is playing politics with a Vietnam cease-fire, say those familiar with the secret negotiations, is untrue and unfair.

No doubt the President would like to be able to boast before the election that he had ended the fighting in Vietnam. But those who have discussed the subject with him say his political instincts warn against a pre-election truce.

For the terms, once they are announced, are bound to displease either the hawks or doves, perhaps both. Politically speaking, the President believes it is better to keep the settlement terms vague until after the election.

But Richard Nixon, though he will present his actions to the public in the best possible political light, puts patriotism ahead of politics. No one who has participated in the Vietnam policy discussions has any doubt about that. They tell us he won't continue the war a day longer than he considers necessary to secure an "honorable peace."

The voters may quarrel with him over his concept of an "honorable peace," say our sources, but not over his motivation. He believes he is close to a settlement that could prevent a Communist take-over of South Vietnam. This objective, he feels, is worth a few more weeks of war.

George McGovern, on the other hand, believes the fighting has lost all purpose except to keep the Thieu regime in power. He doesn't consider President Thieu worth another American life. The U.S. devastation of Vietnam, in McGovern's view, is almost immoral.

The voters should judge the opposing views, not question the patriotism of the candidates. For both men are sincere.

Earlier this year, President Nixon made a decision on Vietnam that he thought could hurt him politically. He ordered the mining of North Vietnam's harbors and the bombing of her supply lines, despite apprehension that the decision would be unpopular with the American voters.

He also ignored the assessment of his intelligence services that the bombing and mining could not stop the flow of military supplies into North Vietnam. The assessment has now been confirmed. Five months after the President's action, food, fuel and munitions are still plentiful in North Vietnam.

Merry-go-round

Politics no part of truce effort

But the President's main purpose, our sources say, was to shake Hanoi's confidence in her Communist big brothers. He was confident that neither Moscow nor Peking would respond to the bombing and mining with anything more than rhetoric. This might help convince the North Vietnamese, he felt, that they couldn't count on their powerful allies in a crunch and, therefore, should settle the war at the negotiating table.

The President feels his strategy, for all its high political risks, is paying off. Washington and Hanoi are now close to a cease-fire agreement that meets his definition of "honorable." Under the formula that has come out of the Paris truce talks, each side, during the cease-fire, would administer the territory its troops now control. A coalition government would rule Saigon until internationally supervised elections could be held.

This would give the Communists a voice they don't now have in Saigon, which President Thieu is fiercely resisting. White House negotiator Henry Kissinger is trying to persuade him this is the best possible settlement.

Kissinger has argued, in effect, that both sides participated in the fighting, therefore both sides should participate in the interim government. Neither side can be expected to wait out in the cold, he contends, and let the other run the government during the cease-fire.

Congress will lay bare the financial heart of the world narcotics racket next year by showing that "respectable" bankers finance international heroin dealers.

For years, Congress has skirted the issue, throwing the spotlight, instead, on the Mafia overlords, dope addicts, the narcotics police and others who can be more comfortably put under congressional klieg lights.

The hints of corrupt bankers doing business with the mob have been muted. The bankers rested secure in their counting houses. The dope trade flourished.

Now, Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., chairman of a Senate Banking subcommittee, is taking on the chore, as he puts it, of exposing "the banking and financial operations that underlie the illegal international traffic in narcotics."

Mondale must first be re-elected, but he is a heavy favorite to defeat the Republican rival. Until the election, however, his plans for hearings in the next session must remain conditional. But already his staff is at work on the bank investigation.

They are focusing on prominent banks in Japan, Southeast Asia and Switzerland. These are the "narcotics banks" whose names are mentioned in whispers in the hushed and paneled boardrooms of the international banking brotherhood.

Mondale has already learned that the banks do not finance the Corsican, Italian, Latin American and ethnic Chinese lords of narcotics directly. The loans are made, instead, to legitimate businessmen. They, in turn, may act as both financial agents and fronts for somewhat seedier clients. And the bank loans may be secured by phony Mafia stock certificates.

As the chain of intermediaries stretches closer to the drug wholesaler, the collateral becomes, in effect, warehouses of heroin, brown morphine or stockpiles of raw opium.

Thus the bankers, who never need soil their manicured fingers by shaking the hands of the dope merchants, indirectly finance them and accept as collateral fields full of opium poppies.

Some of the "narcotics bankers" are only vaguely aware that they are loaning money through fronts to drug wholesalers. Others know they are financing drug addiction, but cannot resist the lure of high-interest short-term loans.

Mondale's task will be to trace the loans from the banks to the drug wholesalers. This will require overcoming the traditional and legal secrecy of the international banks. Although his subpoena powers do not extend overseas, he hopes to send investigators to Switzerland, Hong Kong, Japan and possibly even mainland China.

Meanwhile, Mondale's staff is in contact with the Federal Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, which for years has tried to tell the world that narcotics, like any other big business, has its bankers and middlemen.

Up to now, few have listened.

The international date line runs down the middle of the Pacific Ocean. It follows the 180th meridian most of the way, but zigzags in several places to avoid having two different calendar days on the same day in a country.

A conservative view

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

LOGAN, Utah — Students at Utah State University are going through a fascinating intellectual exercise these days, as part of a wide-ranging study not only of the environment but of their own life values also.

Kilpatrick

It would be hard to imagine a better site for the program. The university nestles in a bowl of spectacular mountains. The air sparkles; golden poplars flame like candles on the skyline; pure water pours down from snow-capped hills. But even here one finds the stirring of controversy: Should a certain ski area be built? It would provide recreation, but it would mess up the magnificent mountain. Should a massive power plant be built? It would provide needed electric energy for the expanding industries of the region and it would create 17,000 jobs, but the plant would uglify the landscape.

Does Utah want the industry? Does Utah need the income?

Such questions, of course, reach far beyond this valley. At a day-long colloquium last week, the students sought answers to a fundamental question that will occupy the whole world over the next century: What is the price that must be paid to preserve a livable planet? If a part of that price is to be reckoned in a cutback in our own affluent standard of living, what do we cut back?

As part of the exercise, the students were asked to imagine that the energy crisis has arrived. Oil cannot be imported from Africa and the Middle East. Liquefied natural gas cannot be obtained from Algeria. The technology for harnessing solar energy has not been found. Major reductions must be made in the consumption of energy, or, as an alternative, serious damage must be done to the environment: the strip-mining of coal, the burning of high-sulfur fuels, the thermal pollution that results from atomic plants.

Assuming these conditions, what should be done? Gary Snyder, a visiting poet and ecologist, was the only speaker who tackled the question squarely. He proposed, for starters, the abolition of jet air travel, a prohibition upon air conditioning, and a stringent cutback in space heating. Some of the products of our conspicuous consumption, he thought, could be forbidden altogether — such as snowmobiles. The thought evoked from the students an audible groan.

But the function of a poet is not to light the surface only, but to illuminate the darker recesses of the mind. Snyder pressed the students to challenge the whole American idea of "growth." Is it true, he wondered, that if civilization does not "move forward," it stagnates or moves backward? What do we mean by forward and backward? The opening of the West, a century ago, produced great cities and obliterated whole species of animals and birds. Was this growth? These are the questions poets ask.

Dick Gregory, comedian turned social activist, made a point too often forgotten: When it comes to parceling out the world's reserves of energy, the undeveloped nations of the world could not justly be asked to engage in self-denial. "They're going to say, 'Hey, baby, it's our turn now.'"

A political philosopher, turning to another aspect of the problem, wondered how a cutback in living standards would be achieved. Who would say what products could be manufactured? How would automobiles and gasoline be rationed? Who would be permitted to travel? Could freedom survive in the midst of massive regimentation?

This was an exercise, mind you, intended not to frame specific answers but merely to sharpen wits, but such exercises are useful. We are privileged to live in the most affluent civilization ever known to man, but we have purchased that affluence and achieved this civilization at a price. The jet plane, we say, is a value. So was the buffalo a value. We have filled our bellies, which is good, and fouled our rivers, which is bad. What values truly matter? And how do we keep these values secure?

You don't have to be an expert to work a squeeze. On many occasions all you have to do is give the cards a chance. East cashes two spades and shifts to the jack of hearts. Things look pretty bad for South, don't they? He has lost two tricks already and there doesn't seem to be anything he can do to avoid losing a third one. However, the way the cards lie, all South has to do is play the hand out and he will make the rest of the tricks. There is nothing fancy or difficult about the proceedings. He just runs off all his six trumps and takes care not to discard more than one club from dummy while he is running trumps. The last trump lead squeezes West. He will only be able to hold four cards. He needs two hearts to protect that suit or three clubs to protect clubs. You just can't keep three clubs and two hearts when you are down to four cards and as long as South has paid attention to the cards that have appeared he will make the rest of the tricks. Will he know that he has executed a squeeze? Maybe not. Maybe he will just think that West discarded badly. It won't matter.

The top-ranked Trojans trimmed Washington 34-7 for their seventh consecutive victory and received 44 first-place votes and 986 of a possible 1,000 points—highest score of the season—from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Alabama's come-from-behind 17-10 triumph over Tennessee earned the Crimson Tide two first-place votes and 805 points and moved them up from third place to second. Nebraska's defending two-time national champions blasted Kansas 56-0 for their third straight shutout and continued their climb, rising from fifth to third with two first-place ballots and 718 points.

Ohio State and Michigan remained in the fourth and fifth spots. The Buckeyes trounced Indiana 44-7 and received one first-place vote and 681 points while the Wolverines downed Illinois 31-7 and picked up the remaining No. 1 vote and 629 points.

Louisiana State rose from seventh to sixth with a 10-0 triumph over Kentucky. Colorado upset Oklahoma, last week's runner-up, 20-14 and went from ninth to seventh while dropping the Sooners from second to eighth.

Rounding out the Top Ten were UCLA, Penn State, Stanford, Texas, Auburn, Air Force, Arkansas, Washington, Arizona State and Iowa State. Stanford lost to Oregon 15-13. Air Force was shot down by Navy 21-17 and Washington bowed to Southern Cal.

Pick Tanner AL Manager of Year

CHICAGO (AP) — Towards the end of the regular American League season, Billy Martin of the Detroit Tigers told Chuck Tanner of the Chicago White Sox: "It's got to be either you or me for Manager of the Year."

That was disclosed today by Tanner, who was named Monday the AL Manager of the Year in an Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters. The White Sox finished 5½ games behind the Oakland A's, newly crowned World champions, in the AL West race.

"If you win, I'll send you a congratulatory wire, and if I win, you can send me one," is the way Martin was quoted by Tanner.

It turned out Tanner received 213 votes to capture the coveted honor, while Eddie Kasko of the Boston Red Sox collected 140, and Martin was third with 66.

The poll, completed prior to the opening of the major league playoffs, ranked Dick Williams of the Oakland A's fifth with 24 votes, behind Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees, fourth with 38.

Tanner, in only his second full major league season, made a season-long run at the Oakland A's mainly with a three-man show—Dick Allen, Wilbur Wood and Carlos May.

The charismatic Tanner, once a journeyman big league outfielder, accepted the Manager of the Year honor with complete surprise.

"Is that right?" he kept repeating when informed of his selection. "What do you say? I'm very grateful and it's a big thrill to me. I have to credit the whole White Sox organization, from the scouts to the players who did the job."

Tanner joined the White Sox late in 1970, a season in which the club finished with a horrible 56-106 record and a major league low attendance of 495,355.

In 1971, Tanner perked the Sox to a 79-83 finish and a turnstile count of 833,891. Then, last season, the Pale Hose became a red hot home attraction, playing before 1,186,018 as they won 55 of 78 games in White Sox Park.

"Next year, we'll have a better season," Tanner said Monday.

In Oakland

Fans Hail World Champs

OAKLAND (AP) — Women fainted but did not fall. The press of the crowd kept them upright until they revived as 150,000 ecstatic Oaklanders lined the streets to welcome home the triumphant A's with their World Series championship.

It was a warm day, and for all the rejoicing and near-hysteria that accompanied the 15-block parade from Lake Merritt to the civic center, Monday's crowd was orderly except when it surged into the street to touch the passing heroes. "The crowd is so dense the parade just can't get through," radioed police officers. "We tried to budge them, but they just won't move."

But the jams lasted only moments, and the parade made its way through storms of rising balloons and falling paper serpentine and confetti.

Cheers went up for everybody on the team, from bat boy Ron Pieraldi to owner Charles O. Finley.

"This is a happy day for Oakland," understated Mayor John Reading as he handed over a plaque to Finley inscribed "To the Swinging Owner of the A's." Manager Dick Williams got one dedicated to "The Genius Manager of the A's." Each player got an engraved pewter plate, the bat boy got a trophy, and the mascot mule, Charley O, was decked with balloons and presented with a bag of victory oats.

Balloons also decorated the motorcycles of the goodnatured police officers who handled the record crowd, swollen because of the Veterans Day holiday and called "the best crowd Oakland has ever seen," by Deputy Police Chief George T. Hart.

The parade followed a delirious Sunday night welcome home at Oakland International Airport by an estimated 25,000 fans who so congested the airport and its approaches that all motor traffic was sealed off for hours.

Ali Predicts That He'll KO Bob Foster in 8th

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Muhammad Ali, using poetry again to jab at his opponents outside the ring, has made light heavyweight champion Bob Foster the latest target of his rhymes.

"Round eight will be his fate," Ali said, predicting the outcome of his Nov. 21 bout with Foster at Lake Tahoe, Nev.

"And if he starts talking jive, I'll reduce it to five," he went on. "I don't like fighters that talk too much."

From there the former world heavyweight champion conducted a free-wheeling one-man show at a news conference Monday to promote three exhibition fights here tonight.

In no time at all, he was reciting a poem about how a radio announcer would report a rematch with Joe Frazier, who defeated Ali for the heavy-weight crown:

"... Now Ali lands with a right—'What a beautiful swing. And the punch lifts Joe Frazier. 'Clean out of the ring ..."

"Now Joe Frazier disappears from view. 'The crowd is getting frantic. 'But our radar station stations have picked him up—'He is somewhere over the Atlantic."

"Who would have thought when they came to the fight. 'That they would have witnessed the launching of a colored satellite?"

Someone in the crowd of admirers volunteered, "You're the greatest."

"Tell me something new, fella," Ali shot back.

Bengals, Buffs Watch Out for Grid Letdowns

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Missouri Tigers and the Colorado Buffaloes, who both pulled upsets last week, are taking precautions against a possible letdown in their Big Eight Conference football game against each other Saturday at Columbia, Mo.

Missouri knocked off Notre Dame 30-24, and Colorado whipped Oklahoma 20-14. "A letdown is always a matter of concern," Eddie Crowder, the Colorado coach, said Monday by telephone from Boulder, Colo., during the Big Eight weekly briefing session. "I don't think our men will overlook Missouri."

"I'm impressed by Missouri's toughness. They're as tough a football team as we play every year." Crowder said tailback Charlie Davis received a severe shoulder bruise in the Sooner game but would be ready for the Tigers. "It's hard to tell about a letdown," said Tiger Coach Al Onfro. "I hope we can prepare for Colorado and in so doing not let last week's game affect us."

"Colorado had a great, great victory, and they want to keep going. Colorado is a complete football team." Halfback Bill Ziegler will not play for Missouri because of a hairline fracture of his hand. Two other injured backs, Ray Bybee and Chuck Link, who did not play against Notre Dame, will remain on the sidelines.

Oklahoma Coach Chuck Fairbanks said he expects Kansas State "to come down here really fired up" Saturday and the game "takes on new importance to us now that we've got a loss in the conference. Each game becomes increasingly important."

"I don't want to play anyone any more fired up than Colorado." Coach Vince Gibson of Kansas State had little to say about the Oklahoma game except that he has gathered wishbone material from "all over the country" in an effort to find ways to combat the formation.

Don Fambrough, the Kansas coach, announced that star quarterback Dave Jaynes, who saw little action in last week's 56-0 loss to Nebraska, will be 100 per cent recovered from a replied: "I'd be concerned if I had the greatest secondary in the world facing Jaynes ..."

Monster Matt Blair, Iowa State's defensive standout, underwent knee surgery Monday and will be lost for the rest of the season. Majors said he would seek another year of eligibility for Blair under the conference's hardship rules.

Dave Smith, Oklahoma State coach, reported that quarterback Brent Blackman's injured ankle "is a lot better" which could be bad news for Nebraska Saturday when the Cornhuskers play the Cowboys.

Bears 'Luck' One; Trip Vikes, 13-10

CHICAGO (AP) — "I don't care who says how lucky we were or how close it was," said Abe Gibron Monday night after his rejuvenated Chicago Bears edged the Minnesota Vikings 13-10. "We won and that's all that counts."

The Bears didn't clinch their second straight victory until a Minnesota touchdown pass from Fran Tarkenton to John Beasley had been called back because of an ineligible receiver downfield and Fred Cox missed a 27-yard field goal attempt with seven seconds remaining.

Minnesota Coach Bud Grant, angry but calm, said "It's too bad the big play had to be made by the officials. There wasn't a flag for some time after the play had been consummated."

"Ask the officials," said Grant when asked who the ineligible receiver was. It was guard Ed White who apparently strayed too far while Tarkenton was scrambling before he spotted Beasley.

The loss dropped the Vikings, preseason favorites, into last place in the Central Division of the National Football Conference while the Bears climbed within 1½ games of Green Bay and Detroit who are tied for the division lead.

The Vikings had the ball for only nine plays in the first half but one of them was a 44-yard touchdown pass from Tarkenton to John Gilliam on a third down situation in Minnesota's first series of play.

Chicago then dominated the first half, running off 41 plays while taking a 10-7 lead on a 21-yard field goal by Mac Percival and a four-yard touchdown pass from Bobby Douglass to Jim Harrison who carried the ball 31 times and gained 103 yards rushing.

Dick Butkus launched the touchdown drive by recovering an Oscar Reed fumble and later called a fake field goal and a fake punt which helped the Bears immensely.

The fake field goal call came on the touchdown drive with the holder Douglass rolling out for six yards and a first down.

The fake punt came in the third quarter when Bobby Joe Green passed to Cecil Turner for 23 yards and a first down. Two plays later, Cyril Pinder fumbled the ball to Minnesota. After the Vikings moved to the Chicago 40, Butkus intercepted a Tarkenton pass which eventually resulted in a 20-yard field goal by Percival for the Bear win.

Cox had connected on a 21-yarder with 1:38 left in the third quarter to tie the score at 10-10 and set the stage for the pulsating fourth quarter. Douglass rushed 11 times for 66 yards, getting 56 of them in the first half and he completed only three of five pass attempts for 33 yards in a typical Douglass performance.

Douglass on the Move

The National Football Conference's runningest quarterback Bobby Douglass (10) of the Chicago Bears, goes for another 15 yards on a broken pass play during the second quarter of action at Soldier Field, Monday night against the Minnesota Vikings.

Douglass added 66 yards to his previous total of 409 for the season as the Bears edged the Vikes, 13-10. Left linebacker Roy Winston (60) only caused Douglass to change direction on this play.

Win Two at Cole Camp

Jr. High Grems Start Fast

(Democrat-Capital Service)

COLE CAMP — Sacred Heart ran up a 21-0 lead by the end of the first quarter on their way to a 61-13 romp over LaMonte in the opening game of the Kaysinger Junior High Tournament here Monday night.

The Grems also advanced in the volleyball division of the tourney with a 34-15 win over Warsaw.

In the night's only other game, also in the volleyball division, Smithton eliminated Lincoln, 39-18.

Four Sacred Heart players hit in double figures as the Gremlins toppled LaMonte in the opening-night cage contest. Bill Beykirch and Melvin Simon netted 12 each, while John Borchers and Dave Hardwick tossed in 10 apiece.

Sacred Heart led at half time, 31-4; the margin swelled to 41-12 as the teams entered the fourth period.

Three games, two in the basketball division, are on tap tonight. Stover will battle Warsaw in the 6:30 p.m. opener, while Cole Camp will take on Green Ridge at 8:30 p.m. in the other cage contest.

In the night's lone volleyball tilt, Stover and Green Ridge play at 7:30 p.m.

Sacred Heart will take on Lincoln Wednesday at 9 p.m. in the second round of basketball competition. The Gremlins volleyball squad will play LaMonte at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Gray Will Miss Four-Six Weeks

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals said Monday wide receiver Mel Gray will be sidelined 4 to 6 weeks because of a dislocated left shoulder.

Gray was hurt Sunday in his first game of the season during the Cardinals loss to the New York Giants. He had just returned to action after a separated right shoulder which kept him off the bench for six weeks.

Gray returned three Giants kickoffs for a total of 88 yards when he was hurt on a blocking assignment.

Jackie Robinson Dies

Jackie Robinson, 53, a black infielder who wrote baseball history when he broke the major league's color barrier in 1947, died Tuesday of an apparent heart attack in Stanford, Conn. Robinson, who retired as a player in 1957, became the first black to play in the majors when he joined the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1947 and helped lead them to the National League championship. (UPI)

Four Missourians Begin Bass Classic Practice

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Four fishermen from Arkansas, three from Missouri and two from Oklahoma were among a field of 24 to begin practice rounds today for the second annual World Bass Masters Classic.

J. Percy Priest Lake near here was announced Monday as the site for the fishing event. The site had not been announced earlier so that none of the 24 contestants could get a head start in learning the waters.

The event is scheduled Wednesday through Friday and is the climax of a $100,000 pro fishing tour. The winner, based on total poundage of fish taken in the three days receives $10,000.

The Arkansas contestants are Bobby Murray and Joe Wilson of Hot Springs, Ricky Green of Arkadelphia and Carlos Mayo of Springdale. Entered from Missouri are John Morris of Springfield, Dwight Keefe of Grandview and Jim Finley of Lebanon.

Representing Oklahoma are Don Bulter and Roland Martin of Tulsa.

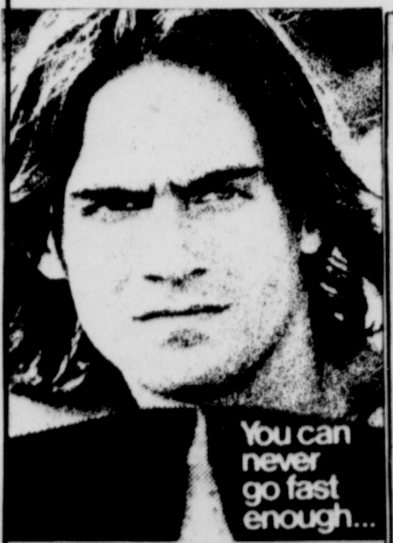

The fishing classic was held last year in Las Vegas. It is sponsored by the Bass Anglers Sportsman Society (BASS) of Montgomery, Ala.

Colorado's Magrum Gets Defense Nod

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Colorado football coaching staff pondered over the Buffs' defensive performance for a long while after last Saturday's 20-14 upset over the Oklahoma Sooners.

The coaches wanted to nominate the entire Colorado defensive unit for Big Eight Conference defensive honors of the week. They said it was the finest defensive effort in Colorado history.

Finally, after lengthy consultation, Coach Eddie Crowder and his staff agreed that one player stood out above the rest.

Bud Magrum, a linebacker. Appraising Magrum's role in the Buff victory, a panel of sports writers wasted little time today selecting the 230-pound Marine Corps veteran unanimously as the week's top defensive player.

Magrum played opposite Oklahoma All-American center Tom Brahaney and turned in his finest game of the season. He had 10 unassisted tackles and four assists, including two which dropped Sooner quarterback Dave Robertson for a total of 11 yards in losses.

Magrum's play was a big factor in holding Oklahoma's fabulous rushing attack to 163 yards, lowest since the Sooners adopted the wishbone in 1970.

Players nominated by other coaches were linebacker Eddie Sheets of Kansas, monster John Schweizer of Iowa State, linebacker Rod Shoate of Oklahoma, linebacker Tom Kellett of Missouri and safety Lee Stover of Oklahoma State.

The panel tapped three from Missouri as offensive players Monday. The three are quarterback John Cherry, fullback Don Johnson and guard Scott Anderson, who stood out in Missouri's 30-26 upset of Notre Dame last weekend.

Paddling Policy Change Sought By Dallas Group

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) — A group which calls Dallas "the corporal punishment capital of the country" is trying to get the city's school board to change its policy of paddling pupils as a disciplinary measure.

Mrs. Carole Duncan, secretary-treasurer of the newly formed National Committee to Abolish Corporal Punishment in Schools, recently told the board it ought to do so voluntarily because:

"It is only a matter of time before corporal punishment will be ended because of federal law."

Dallas school Supt. Nolan Estes has disclosed there were 24,305 paddling cases in Dallas during 1971-72 academic year.

This was almost four times more than in the 1970-1971 school year. Estes attributed the increase to what he called general unrest resulting from school desegregation.

"We don't think we ought to paddle," Estes conceded, "but until there is a utopian society we will use it as a method of discipline. It is a last resort."

Estes also said he would resign rather than head a school system where such punishment was banned.

School policy in Dallas is that only the school principal or his immediate deputy may paddle a child without prior consent from the parents.

A teacher must first go through a hearing process with the pupil and then have permission from the parents to paddle the child.

Mrs. Duncan claims that Estes's figure of 24,305 does not reflect the true number of cases. She also says that paddlings involve a disproportionate number of minority pupils and parental permission is not always sought.

"Statistics indicate that, when black children attended black schools in black communities with black personnel, they were not subjected to excessive punishments," she told the school board. Mrs. Duncan is white.

"It is a tragic admission of racial misunderstanding to acknowledge that integration of blacks into white schools has served to bring about increased physical assaults on black school children," she said.

Mrs. Duncan, who appeared before the school board with a doctor from a local hospital, said a comparative study showed that New York City,

Chicago and Philadelphia have laws against the use of corporal punishment.

A check of Texas schools showed an attempt is being made to "phase out" paddling in Houston while both Austin and Fort Worth use paddling "as a last resort" with the principal or another teacher present as witness.

Mrs. Jewel Howard, president of Classroom Teachers of Dallas, said her organization's policy was to support the school board.

"We have no evidence that Dallas teachers are abusing children," she said.

The National Committee to Abolish Corporal Punishment in schools is mounting a membership drive across the country.

NATO Agreement To Security Role

BRUSSELS (AP) — The North Atlantic Council agreed Monday to take part in the talks opening Nov. 22 in Helsinki to prepare for an European security conference.

One official said it was agreed the larger NATO countries, such as West Germany and the United States, would handle the negotiations.

The 15-nation council also agreed what members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization would take part in the exploratory discussions in January on East-West troop reductions.

The smaller members of NATO on its northern and southern flanks — Norway, Denmark, Italy, Greece and Turkey — will have a status more important than observers but less than full participants, the official said.

Ann Landers

Specialist States Points on Disease

Dear Ann Landers: As a gynecologist and a member of the National Commission on V.D. I want to thank you for the good you have done through your column. Your recent advice on how to spot V.D. was excellent. If it is possible, will you please return to the subject and emphasize a few points which are not well known, even by many physicians.

In females, gonorrhea may be present without symptoms. It is a fact that the majority of females who have it harbor the infection for long periods of time. Patients frequently come to me because their boyfriends have told them they acquired the disease from them. Upon examination the women appear perfectly O.K. but I take a smear and the lab results indicate they do indeed have gonorrhea. All women who lead active sex lives should have lab smears. It is quick, simple, painless and inexpensive.

Although our hedonistic society has downgraded the old fashioned birth control device the boys used to buy furtively in drugstores, it is still the best way to prevent V.D. as well as pregnancy. It might also be a factor in preventing cancer of the cervix.

Gonorrhea is the commonest cause for sterility in both male and female. It also may cause arthritis, skin eruptions, prostate trouble, kidney disease, heart disease and even death. — Edwin De Costa, M.D., Chicago.

Dear Dr. De Costa: Thank you for providing my readers with what might be life-saving information. I appreciate your interest.

Dear Ann Landers: Do you still give advice or do you just tell people what they want to hear? I read with astonishment the letter from the country lady (pardon, woman) who was irritated by city people who were lost and blew their car horns until someone came out and gave them directions. I was even more astonished when you agreed with her that they were bores and clods. What ever became of the milk of human kindness?

I have lived in the country over 20 years on a little-traveled road. When a stranger stops to ask directions I am happy to help him. It is such a small thing to do, why would anyone resent it?

Please, Ann, don't encourage such lack of concern that we resent doing a small kindness. Does the Bible not say that in encountering strangers some have entertained angels unaware? — Country Hick And Glad Of It

Dear Glad: "Strangers" aren't what they used to be, plus the fact that folks who wander on to a farmer's property may well encounter something besides "angels." Read on:

Dear Ann Landers: One thing is for sure. You might be from Iowa, but you are a city girl through and through. Your reply to the farm woman who resented it when city people drove on to their property and honked the horn, for someone to come out and give them road directions was a dead give away.

Says Gas Supply Hindering Power

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Floyd W. Lewis, president of the Middle South Utilities System, said Monday the system could not generate as much electricity as it feels it should because its supply of natural gas has been curtailed.

In a statement from his New York office released here, he said the loss of generating capability due to natural gas curtailment and the substitution of fuel oil during the peak load season this year amounted to about 533,000 kilowatts. He said this represented about 6 per cent of the system's generating capability.

Operating companies of the system are Louisiana Power and Light, Mississippi Power and Light, New Orleans Public Service Inc., Arkansas Power & Light and Arkansas-Missouri Power Co.

Conversion of the generating units to oil fuel will make them less efficient in the production of electricity, Lewis said. He said modifications cost about $20 per kilowatt and idle a plant for two to five months.

Holdings Of Bond Reported

I'm a farm person and I know that most farmers keep dogs on their place for protection. The dogs are not always visible, but they are on the look-out for strangers. If the farm family doesn't happen to be at home, your so-called "good manners" could result in disaster. — Country Folk

Dear Folk: Thank you, Country Cousin, for the seasoned counsel. Your letter proves once again that common sense takes precedence over etiquette.

Can drugs be a friend in time of stress? If you keep your head together can they be of help? Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs," separates the fact from the fiction. Get it today. Schedule Vote On Bond Issue

PLATTE CITY, Mo. (AP) — A $927,000 bond issue to finance construction of two junior high schools and a 10-room addition to an elementary school was to be voted on today in the Platte City R-3 school district.

If approved the debt service levy would be increased 45 cents to a total levy of $4.63 on each $100 evaluation.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Post-Dispatch reported Sunday that financial holdings of Christopher S. "Kit" Bond, Republican candidate for governor, were slightly less than $1 million.

Bond reported earlier this year what his investments included but declined to give the net amount. He has been criticized by his Democratic opponent Edward L. Dowd, for not making the full disclosure. Dowd listed net assets of $108,000.

The Post said in its Sunday edition that Bond acknowledged he was worth "about $1 million — I think slightly less, I really haven't figured it all up."

The 33-year-old state auditor is the grandson of the late A. P. Green, who founded a large firebrick company in Mexico, Mo.

Dowd had said voters should know how much money Bond owned in municipal bonds and other interests that the state might do business with. The Post said Bond's municipal bonds were worth about $50,000. His earlier statement said he owned bonds from Florissant, Mo., the Rockwood School District in St. Louis County, Jackson County, Columbia, Mo., and Audrain County.

Most of Bond's stocks are in U.S. Gypsum Co., the paper said. He also has stock in Massachusetts Groth Mutual Fund, Crum and Forster, Inc., Suburban Propane Gas Corp., International Business Machines Corp., and the Washington Post Co.

McGovern Is Continuing His Push For TV Debate

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. George McGovern said Tuesday that instead of planting questions for him with television interviewers President Nixon should "consider a less surreptitious route—like asking them himself, in a face-to-face debate with me before the American people."

Nixon's campaign manager, Clark MacGregor, has said there will be no such debates.

McGovern, the Democratic presidential nominee, said the Nixon campaign attempted Sunday to plant questions not only for him but for vice-presidential candidate Sargent Shriver when they appeared on network-television interviews. McGovern called that "one of the more arrogant episodes in a Republican campaign marked more by its audacity than its honesty."

On ABC's "Issues and Answers" Sunday, one interviewer said the White House had submitted a number of questions for McGovern.

The Democratic nominee said in a statement that he has been answering questions for 20 months while Nixon "has taken sanctuary in the White House."

"I expect that is because Mr. Nixon is afraid... he might be asked whether it is really possible that a massive effort to sabotage the electoral process could be undertaken without his knowledge or approval.

"If Mr. Nixon was not involved in all of this, he is apparently one of the few people in the White House who wasn't," McGovern said.

The Democratic nominee Monday night repeated his call for postwar amnesty for draft dodgers and contended that his position on that issue is not much different from Nixon's.

Answering telephoned questions in a campaign television appearance, McGovern said he considers the differences in his and Nixon's position "not all as great as has been made out."

"He (Nixon) has said that once the war is over and our prisoners of war are returned that he would consider amnesty for those young men who stood up against the war on grounds of conscience," McGovern said. "That's almost exactly a verbatim statement of my position."

But McGovern based that on a statement Nixon made nearly 10 months ago. The President has denounced amnesty proposals twice in the past eight days, declaring that those who fled the draft will "pay a price for their choice."

McGovern's television appearance was broadcast on six New York state stations. He is to appear in a similar question-and-answer program in Milwaukee tonight after a campaign stop in Dayton, Ohio.

McGovern said in his telecast that he had never advocated amnesty while the war continues, and does not favor a general amnesty for military deserters.

before being transferred to her present job six months ago.

"At first my parents were very upset about my job," the detective said. "They were afraid I would be depressed by my work. But now that they have seen nothing bad has happened to me, they've changed their minds."

"My mother calls me the hired gun."

In addition to her work in the sex crimes unit she gives lessons in self-defense through the department's community relations unit.

"Men that I date sometimes are bewildered," she said, "but they feel well protected."

About her job, she said, "I know that I'm doing a job that needs to be done—getting rapists off the streets."

"There is no differentiation between my duties and those of the men in the unit," she said. "I handle all types of sex crimes."

Soviets Loosen Emigration Tax

By STEPHENS BROENING
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government has told 36 more Jewish families they can emigrate without paying the controversial diploma tax, but it also withdrew the exit visas issued to another family last week, Jewish sources report.

The exemptions Monday brought to 174 the number of Jewish families told they can leave without paying the heavy tax. All were given 10 days to get out of the country, the sources said.

Among those in the latest group is 27-year-old Gabriel Shapiro, who is married to Judith Silver Shapiro of Cincinnati, Ohio.

"I don't believe it! I just don't believe it!" said Mrs. Shapiro when her husband told her during a telephone conversation Monday that he would be permitted to leave the Soviet Union. She had called him during a news conference in Syracuse, N.Y., to call attention to the condition of the Soviet Jews.

The Shapiros were married in Moscow last June in a private religious ceremony, and Soviet officials forced the bride to leave the country soon afterward. She has been waging a well publicized campaign ever since to get him out.

Shapiro was convicted in July of evading a summer military training session and sentenced a year of compulsory, out-of-prison labor. Jewish sources said he was imprisoned for three days in September for participating in a protest against the diploma tax.

The tax was decreed Aug. 3 and is based on the years the emigrant has spent in Soviet schools. For some doctors and scientists it could run as high as $30,000.

The Soviet government first waived the tax last week about the time Moscow and Washington signed a major trade agreement. It is generally assumed that the Soviets are trying to appease members of the U.S. Senate who are threatening to veto the key clause of the agreement granting most-favored-nation status to the Soviet Union unless the Soviet government lifts the diploma tax. But there has been no indication that the Kremlin would repeal the tax.

A young Soviet Jew said he and his mother had their exit visas canceled Monday after getting them last week when the tax was first waived. Andrei V. Dubrov, 22, said he was with his mother at the Office of Visas and Foreign Registration clarifying the documents when a representative of the military committee for his Moscow district arrived.

The officer summoned him into a room, told him the visas were annulled and that he must sign a draft summons, which he refused to do. No reason was given for the action, Dubrov said.

Mortuary Business Explained

Taking as her subject, "A Service No One Wants To Buy," Miss Sue Heckart, manager of the family-owned Heckart-Gillespie Funeral Home, told members of the Rotary Club about the funeral business in a prepared talk at noon Monday at Hotel Bothwell.

Miss Heckart related the cost of a funeral service to the expense of a necessary force of personnel, to the cost of a physical plant and the high cost of equipment and vehicles. She reported that national statistics revealed it took 80 manhours to arrange and handle a funeral service.

She also pointed out that a funeral home operated 24 hours a day and that 70 per cent of the time funeral home personnel were on a standby basis.

Miss Heckart, who received her education in Sedalia public schools, Missouri Valley College and the University of Kansas

Department of Mortuary Science, stated she chose the profession because it offered her "a greater opportunity to serve my fellow man."

Following her talk she answered questions that related generally to pre-arrangement of funeral services and the method and cost of such arrangement.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. David Robinson, October program chairman. Seated at the head table with the speaker was her father, Rotarian Del Heckart.

Charles Hofheins, club president, announced the official visit of Rotary district governor Len Gregg, Warrensburg, next Monday and asked that all officers of the club and committee chairmen be on hand at 10 a.m. for a club assembly. Gregg will be the speaker at the noon luncheon that day.

Bill Hopkins, chairman of the ticket sales for the Travel and Adventure film series, announced after a roll call tabulation that nearly 500 tickets had been sold and asked that members concentrate their efforts this week to meet and pass last year's sales. Net proceeds from the series will be used to underwrite community projects.

John Blumh, Pettis County dairy farmer, was the guest of John Zulauf, and was introduced by Alvin Cline.

Group singing was led by Merrill Strombom and the invocation was given by the Rev. Tom Hall.

College Has Selected Bill Randall

(Democrat-Capital Service)

SILVER SPRING, Md. — The American College of Nursing Home Administrators has announced that Congressman William J. Randall of Missouri's 4th Congressional District, has been selected to receive the College's annual Public Service Award.

The award is presented each year to an elected county, state or federal legislator for outstanding interest, concern and public service in the field of long-term health care administration.

Randall was indicated he would attend the organization's recognition luncheon Nov. 15.

Dentistry School Receives Grant

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The school of dentistry at the University of Missouri-Kansas City has received a $1.1 million grant from the U.S. Public Health Service to help lower the school's student-faculty ratio.

Officials have been concerned that the school could lose its accreditation if the ratio is not reduced.

"The grant has put us in a position where we shouldn't be in too much trouble," Dr. Russell W. Sumnicht, associate dean of the dental school, said Monday.

The student-faculty ratio was 13 to 1, considerably higher than normal standards, he said. The goal is to bring it to nine or 10 to one.

Huge Crowds Gather To Follow President

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has drawn the biggest crowds of his campaign as he led a caravan through New York City suburbs and met cheers peppered with occasional heckling.

A few dozen anti-Nixon protesters disrupted his appearance at the nighttime rally capping his campaign swing Monday, but police quickly hustled them away. Nixon paused to watch and resumed his speech with praise for the officers.

State police estimated that 425,000 spectators lined streets of a dozen normally Republican communities in Westchester County as Nixon and wife Pat waved from a limousine in a 50-mile Veterans Day motorcade. Another 15,000-plus were on hand for the rally at the Nassau County Coliseum in Uniondale.

Along the parade route, the pro-Nixon cheers and signs were countered by a sprinkling of chants and placards supporting his Democratic rival, George McGovern.

Bands, balloons, cheerleaders, inflated pink elephants, and an audience waving thousands of flags distributed in advance greeted the President at the coliseum.

In introducing Nixon, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said the crowd represented "America at its best."

Once Nixon began to speak, however, catcalls and derisive chants echoed from one section of the upper balconies, then another. Police quietly led away a handful of hecklers.

Then a small, concentrated group of demonstrators, seated behind the platform and close to an upper-tier exit, renewed the disturbance. When police ordered them to leave, a brief scuffle ensued. As officers unlimbered their clubs, newsmen on the floor below saw a flurry of punches exchanged and sev-

Former Policeman Is Killed in Blast

OVERLAND, Mo. (AP) — Former St. Louis policeman F. Lyman Davis was killed late Monday as a bomb shattered his car on a grocery store parking lot in this St. Louis County town.

Davis, 55, resigned as a police lieutenant in Oct., 1959, after pleading guilty to a charge of "general inefficiency" lodged by the St. Louis Police Board. The charge was one of four made by the board after he was found visiting what police said was a suspected gambling house. In recent years he operated a tavern near the explosion site.

Police said Davis was identified by his family and by the license number on his 1972 Cadillac.

Witnesses said the car exploded in fire when Davis left the store and started to drive away. A store employee said Davis had been shopping for about 15 minutes.

The explosion was heard as far as six blocks away and car fragments were scattered over a radius of more than 100 yards.

No other injuries were reported but several plate glass windows were broken out in nearby businesses.

"I thought the building was coming down," said the owner of a heating firm about 100 yards from the lot. "You couldn't see even 10 feet with all the smoke billowing around."

The blast was believed to have been centered in the mid-section of the car. Only the chassis and a few seat springs were left intact.

The area Major Case Squad along with the FBI and U.S. Treasury agents were called in today. The Treasury Department handles bomb-related deaths.

Davis was the second St. Louisan to be killed by a car bomb explosion in the last three months.

On Aug. 25 Louis D. Shoulters, a local Laborers Union member, was killed when a bomb exploded in his car at Table Rock Lake, near Branson. Shoulters' associate T.J. Harvill, also of St. Louis, was seriously injured.

The Shoulters bombing remains unsolved, along with the death of Continental Telephone Corp. President Phillip J. Lucier who was killed when a bomb exploded in 1970 when he turned the key in the ignition of his car in Clayton.

Humanizes His Job At School

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Hendrik Gideonse, a dean at the University of Cincinnati, takes his 10-week-old son to work with him and his wife drops in the office regularly to breast-feed the baby.

"I just looked at my schedule and saw I'd be out three or four or five nights a week and said, 'Nuts. I'm not going to see my son only while he's sleeping in a dark crib,'" said the 36-year-old Gideonse, dean of the College of Education.

Gideonse, a former researcher for the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said his wife Sarah stops in on schedule the two days a week he takes the infant to the office to feed the baby.

Gideonse said a dominant theme in his studies has been the need to "humanize work so that it does not require such a complete separation from the values, needs and activities which fulfill people emotionally and aesthetically."

Gideonse insists that he actually gets more work accomplished when the baby is with him.

That is "probably because I don't want to run the risk of anyone raising just the kind of complaint that was phoned in," he said concerning one charge by a university employee's mother that he was neglecting important things that should be done.

Gideonse's wife said that she is delighted with free time for errands and volunteer work.

"The purpose was partially to free me," she said, "but mostly it makes Hendrik feel together."

Teacher Accused By Board

KANSAS CITY (AP) — An elementary school teacher in the suburban Shawnee Mission, Kan., school district was accused of demonstrating drug taking techniques to pupils in a drug abuse program at the school.

The charges were made during a meeting of the district's school board and were immediately denied by board president, Walter Hiersteiner.

Mrs. Dolores Mathis said a sixth grade teacher had shown her daughter how drugs are injected with a hypodermic needle into the body.

Hiersteiner said a report received by the school administration of the incident did not agree with Mrs. Mathis' allegations. However, he said, "We will take her allegations and conduct a further investigation to be sure."

After the meeting Mrs. Mathis said her daughter told her the teacher had showed the class how drugs were "mainlined," how tourniquet was applied, the veins distended, and drugs injected between the fingers and toes or into the eyelid.

The mother also said the teacher showed how air was exhausted from a hypodermic needle.

The teacher, whose name was not disclosed, commented later that Mrs. Mathis' observations were "hearsay." "Whether you are teaching basket-weaving or drug abuse," the teacher said, "kids are going to ask questions because they are curious."

People In The News

MIAMI (AP) — Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, who was admitted to Mercy Hospital on Oct. 11 after suffering a stroke, is reported to be improving.

The World War I flying ace spent an hour sitting in a hospital bed Monday and was "continuing to make slow but steady improvement," according to his personal physician, Dr. John Handwerker.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Johnny Cash led a near-packed theater audience down "Gospel Road" in a film combining the scripture, music and Cash himself.

The 90-minute film was viewed by invited guests and those who came in to gain admission to the no-charge preview showing Monday night. Donations were accepted after the film for Cash's favorite charity, Walden House, a school.

Filmed in Israel, the documentary-musical story of Christ is a pet project of the country music giant, who began the initial work on it six years ago. Cash says he hasn't decided yet what to do with the film, but film and television executives were among Monday night's guests.

The project took 18 months and reportedly cost a minimum of $250,000 — all provided by Cash.

Cash does most of the singing and narrating as the story moves from sunrise to sunset, from Jesus' boyhood to his death.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Black activist Angela Davis says she will tour the country in an effort to drum up support for Pvt. Billy Dean Smith, a black GI now being court-martialed on charges of murdering two Army officers in Vietnam with a fragmentation grenade.

Miss Davis told a news conference here Monday the case against Smith "is obviously a frameup" and said his case was developed "to terrorize GIs" who oppose the war.

Smith, from the Watts area of Los Angeles, has pleaded innocent to charges of murdering two officers at Bien Hoa Air Base near Saigon. His court-martial at Ft. Ord, Calif., is the first to be held in the United States on "framing" charges.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, appearing thin and weak, has returned home after a month in a New York City hospital, where he underwent exploratory surgery and treatment for cancer.

Rockefeller was greeted at the Little Rock airport Monday by his son Winthrop and about 50 friends and employees.

The former governor, his voice barely audible, had his son read a statement which said "that beyond the exploratory operation no further surgery was indicated" but that he was undergoing a chemotherapy program.

Rockefeller entered the hospital Sept. 24 for tests in connection with a possibly malignant cyst that had been removed from his armpit. After inconclusive tests, he underwent exploratory surgery, and the chemotherapy treatment was instituted.

Propaganda Is Charged By O'Brien

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Lawrence F. O'Brien says the Nixon administration spent an estimated $263,000 printing and distributing pamphlets containing "sheer political propaganda" in efforts to win votes of the nation's senior citizens.

O'Brien, national campaign director for Sen. George McGovern, told a news conference Monday that six federal departments and agencies — "acting under the direct orders and supervision of the White House" — printed nine million pamphlets on how the administration has met the problems of aging.

O'Brien said the pamphlets were mailed in government envelopes to senior citizens during August, September and October and were charged to public expense.

They were distributed by the Departments of Labor, Agriculture and Housing and Urban Development and by the Office of Economic Opportunity, the Veterans Administration and ACTION, O'Brien said.

"These pamphlets, all of which mention Mr. Nixon by name and include quotations from Mr. Nixon as well as photographs of him and members of his family, are sheer political propaganda," O'Brien said.

He reported that the General Accounting Office, Congress' official auditing agency, estimated the cost of printing and distributing the pamphlets at $263,000.

Soft Dress Highlights Collection

NEW YORK (AP) — The soft spring dress is the best thing on the ticket at the Geoffrey Beene boutique collection.

For evening, weed through some old-looking cygeline ruffles, stiff organzas and the neck ruffles of a red and white polka dot creation.

Don't stop until you come to a group of short chiffons. Some are pastel, with dropped waists and shoulders. Others are printed with pleated skirts. If the short evening dress is indeed coming back, this is a good solution.

These look better than some dressy pants suits offered. They are newer than the long swirling print dresses shown.

They even outshine a couple of very pretty white shirt waists, shown full length, at the Monday presentation.

For day, ruffle through the typical famous Beene styles: the crisp princess line dress and the useful dark blue with white collar.

Push on to a series of pastel jerseys, cut straight and narrow, often with matching turbans. Try pink or yellow or beige. They look great — neat, grown up and put-together.

These two groups of dresses, for day and evening are top choice at Beene. However, there are plenty of good chemise styles and some spanking fresh, checked daytime suits.

The sashed look predominates in coats and jackets, bringing more softness to the tailored trend — which is loosening up a bit for spring.

For women who worry about their cleaning bills, there are enough dark blue outfits and with white touches to go around.

This is the only drawback to the popular pale tones for spring.

The cleaning bills can be monstrous. One speck of spaghetti sauce is all it takes.

Prices of the collection run from $110 to $350. And the dress is the more effective offering from Beene.

IMMEDIATE REPLACEMENT
BATTERY GUARANTEE

Montgomery Ward guarantees this battery to be free from defects in material and workmanship. If this battery fails to hold a charge Montgomery Ward will: 1. For 90 days from purchase, replace the battery free. 2. After 90 days, to the end of the guarantee period specified, replace the battery, charging a prorated amount—based on time since purchase—of the regular no trade-in selling price then in effect. Batteries used in commercial vehicles are guaranteed on a similar prorata basis for half of the normally specified m. For service under this guarantee, return battery with evidence of date of purchase to any Montgomery Ward branch.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current price less the following dollar allowance:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wearout Allowance
40,000 miles.....	Prorated on Miles Driven
45 month.....	$13.00
40 month.....	10.00
39 month.....	8.00
36 month.....	6.00
33 month.....	5.00
30 month.....	4.00
24 month.....	3.00
18 month.....	2.00

Tread Wear Expectancy offer does not apply to tires used commercially.
